Women’s Health Residency Program
Department of Physical Therapy

Program Description:
The Creighton University Residency in Women’s Health Physical Therapy offers licensed physical therapists the opportunity to develop advanced knowledge and clinical skills, excellent clinical reasoning and clinical teaching skills, and patient advocacy and leadership abilities to advance the profession.

As part of the program’s mission, faculty, mentors and residents will:

- Excel in managing the uncertainty and complexity of clinical practice
- Demonstrate clinical innovation in practice
- Incorporate evidence-based practice
- Utilize technology to advance patient care

Clinical Practice:
Creighton University provides an outstanding didactic educational experience and our clinical practice partner will allow the resident to gain advanced clinical skills and knowledge in women’s health physical therapy practice and teaching opportunities to facilitate the development of clinical expertise. Program Details:

- Resident year is August 1—July 31
- Resident is a Creighton University employee and receives full time benefits through Creighton University
- Residents complete 24-28 hours per week of clinical practice (primarily outpatient rehab) and 12-14 hours of experiences that include teaching, labs, didactic training and a common curriculum with other residency (PT, OT, and Pharmacy) programs.
- Professional licensure in the state of Nebraska is required.
